

Top 10 Signs Your Pastor Needs a Vacation

10. He wears Bermuda shorts and a Hawaiian shirt to service.
9. The closing hymn for three weeks in a row was, "I'll Fly Away."
8. He announces baptismal services will be at the Grand Canyon.
7. Every time his phone rings, he shouts, "Why can't they just leave me alone?!"
6. You caught him snoring during the congregational prayer time.
5. You go to him for counseling and pour your heart out and he says, "Sounds like a personal problem to me."
4. The last ten sermons had "rest" in the title.
3. In pre-marital counseling sessions, he spends most of the time discussing honeymoon destinations.
2. His wife has posted pictures of him around the neighborhood with the caption: "Have you seen this man?"

And the number one sign your pastor needs a vacation is:

1. His first words to the congregation on Sunday morning are "All right, listen up you heathens..."